Photo Contest On Science Center Agenda

A ten-week course in photography will be held at the South shore Natural Science Center beginning Monday evening, Sept. 10.

John Black will be instructor. He has won awards in many art shows and his work is used by various museums. He has taught a number of courses at the Center.

The first class will offer a discussion of various cameras being used by the students to be followed by a critique of slides.

In order, the following subjects will be covered in depth: discussion of types of film with slide examples of different films, developing skills with the metering systems of cameras and how to develop your eye to be as accurate as a hand held meter, an in depth session on lenses and the effect of depth of field, lighting, using available light and existing light and how to conquer flares and shadows; electronic flash using many examples on its use in nature photography.

Close-up photography and what is needed to attain a good crisp close up using bellows, extension tubes, normal and macro lenses; filters, film and effect equipment; how to use imagery through diffusion, infra-red and other methods, photographing nature and what to consider when photographing fast moving subjects from impressionistic to documentary in the field and other topics.

Advance registration is required. Fee is $40 for members, $45 for non-members. Call 659-2559 any day until 4 p.m. for registration and information.

English pipes and chinaware, French perfumes, Irish crystal, cameras, and photographic accessories from Japan, cashmere goods from Scotland and chic Continental fashions are just some of the products from around the world that can be found on a shopping spree on Nassau's Bay Street, or in Freeport's International Bazaar in the Bahamas. The Bazaar is a simulacrum of market streets on countries such as France, Spain, Mexico, Japan, and the Scandinavian nations, and displays goods from these countries at bargain prices.

The service of a travel agent represent your best bargain. There is never a charge for availing yourself or their services. At COLPITTS TRAVEL CENTER, you're important to us and we are continually endeavoring to serve your travel needs quickly and accurately without any inconvenience to you. We are easy to reach at 3 Brook St., Scituate. We are open 9-5 Mon.-Fri.; 10-4 Sat. and by appointment. Tel. 545-4500 or 383-1717.

TRAVEL TIP:

A charter generally costs less than almost any other form of air transportation.
